ANSWERS AND EXPLANATION

Maximum Marks: 200

Q 1.C

All the above statements are correct.

A direct democracy is one where the citizens directly participate in the day-to-day decision making and in the running of the government. The ancient city-states in Greece were considered examples of direct democracy. Many would consider local governments, especially gram sabhas, to be the closest examples of direct democracy. But this kind of direct democracy cannot be practiced when a decision has to be taken by lakhs and crores of people. That is why rule by the people usually means rule by people's representatives.

In such an arrangement citizens choose their representatives who, in turn, are actively involved in governing and administering the country. The method followed to choose these representatives is referred to as an election. Thus, the citizens have a limited role in taking major decisions and in running the administration. They are not very actively involved in making of the policies. Citizens are involved only indirectly, through their elected representatives. In this arrangement, where all major decisions are taken by elected representatives, the method by which people elect their representatives becomes very important.

Q 2.C

The word executive means a body of persons that looks after the implementation of rules and regulations in actual practice. In the case of government also, one body may take policy decisions and decide about rules and regulations, while the other one would be in charge of implementing those rules. The organ of government that primarily looks after the function of implementation and administration is called the executive.

What are the principal functions of the executive? Executive is the branch of government responsible for the implementation of laws and policies adopted by the legislature. The executive is often involved in framing of policy. The official designations of the executive vary from country to country. Some countries have presidents, while others have chancellors. The executive branch is not just about presidents, prime ministers and ministers. It also extends to the administrative machinery (civil servants). While the heads of government and their ministers, saddled with the overall responsibility of government policy, are together known as the political executive, those responsible for day to day administration are called the permanent executive.

Q 31.C

- NASA has selected two missions to the planet Venus, Earth's nearest neighbor. The missions called DAVINCI+ and VERITAS have been selected based on their potential for scientific value and the feasibility of their development plans. NASA is expected to allot $500 million to each of these missions that will launch between 2028-2030. Hence statement 1 is correct
- Both missions are part of the space agency's Discovery Program, which began in 1992 to give scientists the chance to launch some missions that use fewer resources and have shorter developmental times. The two selections are a part of the ninth Discovery Program and were made from proposals submitted in 2019. Hence statement 2 is correct
- DAVINCI+ is short for 'Deep Atmosphere Venus Investigation of Noble gases, Chemistry, and Imaging' and is the first US-led mission to the planet's atmosphere since 1978. It will try to understand Venus' composition to see how the planet formed and evolved. This mission also consists of a descent sphere that will pass through the planet's thick atmosphere and make observations and take measurements of noble gases and other elements.
- The second mission called VERITAS is short for 'Venus Emissivity, Radio Science, InSAR, Topography, and Spectroscopy' and will map the planet's surface to determine its geologic history and understand the reasons why it developed so differently from Earth.

Q 32.D

- The veto power enjoyed by the executive in modern states can be classified into the following four types:
 - Absolute veto, that is, withholding of assent to the bill passed by the legislature.
 - Qualified veto, which can be overridden by the legislature with a higher majority.
 - Suspensive veto, which can be overridden by the legislature with an ordinary majority.
 - Pocket veto, that is, taking no action on the bill passed by the legislature.
- Of the above four, the President of India is vested with three—absolute veto, suspensive veto, and pocket veto. There is no qualified veto in the case of the Indian President. Hence statement 1 is correct.
- A bill passed by the Parliament can become an act only if it receives the assent of the President. When such a bill is presented to the President for his assent, he has three alternatives (under Article 111 of the Constitution):
 - He may give his assent to the bill, or
 - He may withhold his assent to the bill, or
 - He may return the bill (if it is not a Money Bill) for reconsideration of the Parliament. However, if the bill is passed again by the Parliament with or without amendments and again presented to the President, the President must give his assent to the bill.
 - The President exercises Suspensive Veto when he returns a bill for reconsideration of the Parliament. However, if the bill is passed again by the Parliament with or without amendments and again presented to the President, it is obligatory for the President to give his assent to the bill.
 - > The President does not possess this veto in the case of money bills. The President can either give his assent to a money bill or withhold his assent to a money bill but cannot return it for the reconsideration of the Parliament. Hence statement 2 is correct.
 - The President has no veto power in respect of a constitutional amendment bill. The 24th Constitutional Amendment Act of 1971 made it obligatory for the President to give his assent to a constitutional amendment bill. Hence statement 3 is correct.

The presiding officer (Speaker or Chairman) declares the House adjourned sine die, when the business of a session is completed. Within the next few days, the President issues a notification for prorogation of the session. However, the President can also prorogue the House while in session.
- Hence option (d) is the correct answer.

Q 34.A

- Geographical Indication (GI) tag is proof of where the product is born or produced. This product can be natural, agricultural, or manufactured. - Article 74 provides for a council of ministers with the Prime Minister at the head to aid and advise the President in the exercise of his functions.

This means that all the ministers own joint responsibility to the Lok Sabha for all their acts of omission and commission. When the Lok Sabha passes a no-confidence motion against the council of ministers, all the ministers have to resign including those ministers who are from the Rajya Sabha. The principle of collective responsibility also means that the Cabinet decisions bind all cabinet ministers (and other ministers) even if they differed in the cabinet meeting. Hence option 3 is correct.
- Individual responsibility and removal
 - Article 75 states that the ministers hold office during the pleasure of the president, which means that the President can remove a minister even at a time when the council of ministers enjoys the confidence of the Lok Sabha. However, the President removes a minister only on the advice of the Prime Minister. In case of a difference of opinion or dissatisfaction with the performance of a

- Recent context :The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has slashed India's growth forecast for 2021-22 sharply in its latest World Economic Outlook (WEO) report. The international body has sharply revised India's growth rate to 9.5 per cent from 12.5 per cent.
- World Economic Outlook is a survey by the IMF staff usually published twice a year. It presents IMF staff economists' analyses of global economic developments during the near and medium term.
- The report encapsulates the state of the global economy and highlights risks and uncertainty that could threaten growth.
- This report is the main instrument of disseminating the findings and analysis of IMF's global surveillance activities to the world.
- Global Financial Stability Report (GFSR), and Fiscal Monitor (FM) are the other reports released by IMF.
- The IMF was conceived in July 1944 at the United Nations Bretton Woods Conference in New Hampshire, United States. The 44 countries in attendance sought to build a framework for international economic cooperation and avoid repeating the competitive currency devaluations that contributed to the Great Depression of the 1930s.
- The IMF's primary mission is to ensure the stability of the international monetary system—the system of exchange rates and international payments that enables countries and their citizens to transact with each other.
- IMF is headquartered in Washington, D.C.
- Hence, both statements are correct.

Q 42.A

- The legislative assembly consists of representatives directly elected by the people on the basis of universal adult franchise. Its maximum strength is fixed at 500 and minimum strength at 60. It means that its strength varies from 60 to 500 depending on the population size of the state. However, in case of Arunachal Pradesh, Sikkim and Goa, the minimum number is fixed at 30 and in case of Mizoram, and Nagaland it is 40 and 46 respectively. Hence, the statement 1 is not correct.
- The Governor can nominate one member from the Anglo- Indian community. Hence, statement 2 is not correct.
- The Constitution provided for the reservation of seats for scheduled castes and scheduled tribes in the assembly of each state on the basis of population. But does not provide same for the women. Hence, statement 3 is not correct.

Q 43.C

- The Constitution under Article 261 contains the “Full Faith and Credit” clause which lays down the following:
- Full faith and credit is to be given throughout the territory of India to public acts, records and judicial proceedings of the Centre and every state.
 - The expression ‘public acts’ includes both legislative and executive acts of the government. Hence statement 1 is not correct.

- The power to make laws with respect to residuary subjects in the Indian Constitution (i.e., the matters which are not enumerated in any of the three lists) is vested in the Parliament. Hence statement 2 is correct.

Q 45.B

- When the Lok Sabha is dissolved, all business including bills, motions, resolutions, notices, petitions and so on pending before it or its committees lapse. They (to be pursued further) must be reintroduced in the newly-constituted Lok Sabha. However, some pending bills and all pending assurances that are to be examined by the Committee on Government Assurances do not lapse on the dissolution of the Lok Sabha.
- The position with respect to lapsing of bills is as follows:

 - A bill not passed by the two Houses due to disagreement and if the President has notified a joint sitting before the dissolution of the Lok Sabha, does not lapse.
 - A bill pending in the Rajya Sabha but not passed by the Lok Sabha does not lapse.
 - A bill passed by both Houses but pending assent of the President does not lapse.
 - A bill passed by both Houses but returned by the President for reconsideration of Houses does not lapse.
- Hence option (b) is the correct answer.

Q 46.A

- Recently Madras High Court in a case observed that all five zonal Benches of the National Green Tribunal (NGT) are equally powerful and their orders are applicable across India. The Madras High Court disapproved a 2017 Central notification, which terms the north zone Bench in Delhi as the Principal Bench.
- The court also held that there is no mention of any principal bench in the NGT Act, 2010.

- The NGT was established on October 18, 2010, under the National Green Tribunal Act 2010, passed by the Central Government.
- NGT was envisioned as a specialized forum for effective and speedy disposal of cases pertaining to environment protection, conservation of forests and for seeking compensation for damages caused to people or property due to violation of environmental laws or conditions specified while granting permissions.
- Following the enactment of the NGT Act, the North Bench of the NGT has been established in the National Capital – New Delhi, with regional benches in
 - Pune (Western Zone Bench)
 - Bhopal (Central Zone Bench)
 - Chennai (Southern Bench)
 - Kolkata (Eastern Bench).
- Each Bench has a specified geographical jurisdiction covering several States in a region. There is also a mechanism for circuit benches. For example, the Southern Zone bench, which is based in Chennai, can decide to have sittings in other places like Bangalore or Hyderabad.
- The Chairperson of the NGT is a retired Judge of the Supreme Court. Other Judicial members are retired Judges of High Courts. Each bench of the NGT will comprise at least one Judicial Member and one Expert Member. Expert members should have a professional qualification and a minimum of 15 years of experience in the field of environment/forest conservation and related subjects.
- The NGT has the power to hear all civil cases relating to environmental issues and questions that are linked to the implementation of laws listed in Schedule I of the NGT Act. These include the following:
 - The Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1974
 - The Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Cess Act, 1977
 - The Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980;
 - The Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1981
 - The Environment (Protection) Act, 1986
 - The Public Liability Insurance Act, 1991
 - The Biological Diversity Act, 2002
- The NGT is not bound by the procedure laid down under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, but shall be guided by principles of natural justice. Further, NGT is also not bound by the rules of evidence as enshrined in the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. Thus, it will be relatively easier (as opposed to approaching a court) for conservation groups to present facts and issues before the NGT, including pointing out technical flaws in a project, or proposing alternatives that could minimize environmental damage but which have not been considered.
- Hence, option (a) is the correct answer.

- Hence, option (b) is the correct answer.

Q 49.D

- Democracy is about participation and accountability that can be achieved through vibrant and strong local governments which provides for active participation and strong accountability. It is the closest form of government to the masses. In 1882, Lord Rippon, known as the 'Father of Local Governance' (the then viceroy of India), took the initiative for local self-governance. Further, the 74th and 74th Constitutional Act, 1992 gave practical shape to the idea by establishing a three-tier structure by creating Panchayats and Municipalities at the local level.
- In the Union Of India & Ors vs R. C. Jain & Ors 1981, the Supreme Court of India cited some distinctive attributes and characteristics of a local authority, which was subsequently cited in other later judgments. These are:
 - It must have separate legal existence as a corporate body.
 - it must not be a mere governmental agency but a legally independent entity
 - it must function in a defined area and must ordinarily be elected wholly or partly, directly or indirectly by the inhabitants of the area
 - it must enjoy a certain degree of autonomy, which, though not complete, must be appreciable
 - The statute must entrust the authority with such governmental functions and duties as are usually entrusted to a municipal body for providing such amenities, as health and education services, etc to the inhabitants
 - It must have the power to raise funds in the furtherance of its activities and the fulfillment of the projects entrusted to it by levying taxes, rates, charges, fees, etc. all of which may be in addition to the money provided by the Government.
 - The essential component is that the control and management of the fund must vest in the authority.
- Hence, option (d) is the correct answer.

Q 50.D

 - They cannot be arrested during the session and 40 days before the beginning and 40 days after the end of a session. However, this privilege is available only in civil cases and not in criminal cases or preventive detention cases. Hence, statement 1 is correct.

Q 51.C

- Parliamentary privileges are special rights, immunities and exemptions enjoyed by the two Houses of Parliament, their committees and their members.
- They are necessary in order to secure the independence and effectiveness of their actions. Without these privileges, the Houses can neither maintain their authority, dignity and honour nor can protect their members from any obstruction in the discharge of their parliamentary responsibilities.
- The Constitution has also extended the parliamentary privileges to those persons who are entitled to speak and take part in the proceedings of a House of Parliament or any of its committees. These include the attorney general of India and Union ministers (even he is not a member of Parliament at that particular period of time)
- The parliamentary privileges do not extend to the president who is also an integral part of the Parliament.

- Parliamentary privileges can be classified into two broad categories:
 - Those that are enjoyed by each House of Parliament collectively.

- A Department has also been defined in the General Financial Rules as follows:
 - Department
 - > A department is responsible for the formulation of policies of the government in relation to business allocated to it and also for the execution and review of those policies.

 - Wing
 - > For the efficient disposal of business allotted to it, a department is divided into wings

 - > Such a functionary is normally vested with the maximum measure of independent functioning and responsibility in respect of the business falling within his wing subject, to the overall responsibility of the Secretary for the administration of the department as a whole.
 - Division

The Constitution does not provide for any such provision. Hence, statement 1 is not correct.
- The Prime Minister is invariably the Leader of the Lok Sabha except under certain circumstances like when the Prime Minister is a member of The Rajya Sabha etc.
- The office of the leader of opposition is not mentioned in the constitution but is mentioned in the Parliamentary Statue. The leader of opposition in the Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha were accorded statutory recognition in 1977 through the Salary and Allowances of Leaders of Opposition in Parliament Act, 1977. Q 75.B

- Recent context: India has decided to explore indigenous deposits of Phosphatic rock, a step towards becoming 'AatmaNirbhar' in Fertilizer production. It is in line with India's commitment to reduce dependency on fertilizer imports and to gain 'AatmaNirbharta' in all fertilizers.
- Rock phosphates or phosphorites are sedimentary phosphatic deposits comprising a fine-grained mixture of various calcium phosphates, most important being hydroxylapatite, carbonate apatite, fluorapatite and their solid solutions.
- About 80% of phosphate production in the world is derived from phosphate rocks (phosphorite) containing one or more phosphatic minerals, usually calcium phosphate of sufficient purity and quantity to permit its use directly or after concentration in manufacturing commercial products.

- India is deficient in Rock Phosphate availability. Rock Phosphate production is only from two states namely, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh. Currently, India is 90% dependent on imports for Rock Phosphate. Hence, statement 1 is not correct.
- Rock Phosphate is an important natural source of Phosphorous and is used as raw material for the production of chemical phosphatic fertilizers like DAP and NPK fertilizers. The paucity of this raw material is constraining the attainment of self-sufficiency in fertilizer production. Hence, statement 2 is correct.
- Further, volatility in international prices affects domestic prices of fertilizers. It hinders the progress and development of the agriculture sector in the country and puts extra pressure on our farmers.

Q 76.B

- Article 123 of the Constitution empowers the President to promulgate ordinances during the recess of Parliament. These ordinances have the same force and effect as an act of Parliament but are in the nature of temporary laws.
- The ordinance-making power is the most important legislative power of the President. It has been vested in him to deal with unforeseen or urgent matters. But, the exercises of this power is subject to the following four limitations:
 - He can promulgate an ordinance only when both the Houses of Parliament are not in session or when either of the two Houses of Parliament is not in session. An ordinance can also be issued when only one House is in session because a law can be passed by both the Houses and not by one House alone.
 - An ordinance made when both the Houses are in session is void. Thus, the power of the President to legislate by ordinance is not a parallel power of legislation.
 - He can make an ordinance only when he is satisfied that the circumstances exist that render it necessary for him to take immediate action.
- In Cooper's case(1970), the Supreme Court held that the President's satisfaction can be questioned in a court on the ground of malafide. This means that the decision of the President to issue an ordinance can be questioned in a court on the ground that the President has prorogued one House or both Houses of Parliament deliberately with a view to promulgating an ordinance on a controversial subject, so as to bypass the parliamentary decision and thereby circumventing the authority of the Parliament.
- An ordinance can be issued only on those subjects on which the Parliament can make laws.
- An ordinance is subject to the same constitutional limitation as an act of Parliament. Hence, an ordinance cannot abridge or take away any of the fundamental rights.
- Every ordinance issued by the President during the recess of parliament must be laid before both the Houses of Parliament when it reassembles.
 - The rules of Lok Sabha require that whenever a bill seeking to replace an ordinance is introduced in the House, a statement explaining the circumstances that had necessitated immediate legislation by ordinance should also be placed before the House. Hence statement 2 is correct.
- Nothing is mentioned in the Constitution about the Re-promulgation of ordinances. Hence statement 1 is not correct.
 - So far, no case has gone to the Supreme Court regarding repromulgation of the ordinance by the President.
 - But, the judgment of the Supreme Court in the DC Wadhwa case (1987) is highly relevant here. The court ruled that successive repromulgation of ordinances with the same text without any attempt to get the bills passed by the assembly would amount to a violation of the Constitution and the ordinance so repromulgated is liable to be struck down.

 - The 42nd Amendment Act of 1976 transferred five subjects to Concurrent List from State List i.e. education, forests, weights and measures, protection of wild animals and birds, and administration of justice; constitution and organisation of all courts except the Supreme Court and the High Courts.

Q 81.B

- Article 75 clearly states that the council of ministers is collectively responsible to the Lok Sabha.
 - This means that all the ministers own joint responsibility to the Lok Sabha for all their acts of omission and commission. They work as a team and swim or sink together.
 - When the Lok Sabha passes a no-confidence motion against the council of ministers, all the ministers have to resign including those ministers who are from the Rajya Sabha. Each minister need not resign separately, the resignation of the prime minister amounts to the resignation of the entire council of ministers. Hence statement 1 is not correct.
 - Alternatively, the council of ministers can advise the president to dissolve the Lok Sabha on the ground that the House does not represent the views of the electorate faithfully and call for fresh elections. The President may not oblige the council of ministers that has lost the confidence of the Lok Sabha.
 - The principle of collective responsibility also means that the Cabinet's decisions bind all cabinet ministers (and other ministers) even if they differed in the cabinet meeting. It is the duty of every minister to stand by cabinet decisions and support them both within and outside the Parliament. If any minister disagrees with a cabinet decision and is not prepared to defend it, he must resign. Several ministers have resigned in the past owing to their differences with the cabinet. For example, Dr BR Ambedkar resigned because of his differences with his colleagues on the Hindu Code Bill in 1953. Hence statement 2 is correct.
- Article 75 also contains the principle of individual responsibility. It states that the ministers hold office during the pleasure of the president, which means that the President can remove a minister even at a time when the council of ministers enjoys the confidence of the Lok Sabha.
- In Britain, every order of the King for any public act is countersigned by a minister. If the order is in violation of any law, the minister would be held responsible and would be liable in the court. The legally accepted phrase in Britain is, "The king can do no wrong." Hence, he cannot be sued in any court.
 - In India, on the other hand, there is no provision in the Constitution for the system of legal responsibility of a minister. It is not required that an order of the President for a public act should be countersigned by a minister. Hence statement 3 is correct.

Q 82.D

- Articles 153 of the Constitution of India provides for the office of Governor for each state. As per Article 155 and Article 156 of the Constitution, a Governor of a state is an appointee of the President.
- A governor holds office for a term of five years from the date on which he enters his office. However, this term of five years is subject to the pleasure of the President. Further, he can resign at any time by addressing a resignation letter to the President.
- The Supreme Court held that the pleasure of the President is not justifiable. However, the court can require the central government to produce the materials on the basis of which the decision was made in order to verify the presence of compelling reasons and check for any arbitrariness. The governor has no security of tenure and no fixed term of office. He may be removed by the President at any time.

- The Constitution does not lay down any grounds upon which a governor may be removed by the President. Hence statement 1 is not correct.
- The President may transfer a Governor appointed to one state to another state for the rest of the term. Further, a Governor whose term has expired may be reappointed in the same state or any other state.
- A governor can hold office beyond his term of five years until his successor assumes charge. The underlying idea is that there must be a governor in the state and there cannot be an interregnum.
- Governor can be removed by the President at any time. But there is no provision for impeaching the Governor by the State Legislature. Indeed, if the Governor misbehaves or acts in a manner against the interests of the people of the State, as perceived by the State Legislature they cannot do anything except perhaps complain to the President.
- The President can make such provision as he thinks fit for the discharge of the functions of the governor in any contingency not provided for in the Constitution, for example, the death of a sitting governor. Thus, the chief justice of the concerned state high court may be appointed temporarily to discharge the functions of the governor of that state. Hence statement 2 is not correct.

Q 83.C

- The Speaker is elected by the Lok Sabha from amongst its members (as soon as may be, after its first sitting).
- Whenever the office of the Speaker falls vacant, the Lok Sabha elects another member to fill the vacancy. The date of election of the Speaker is fixed by the President. Hence, statement 1 is not correct.
- Usually, the Speaker remains in office during the life of the Lok Sabha. However, he has to vacate his office earlier in any of the following three cases:
 - if he ceases to be a member of the Lok Sabha;
 - if he resigns by writing to the Deputy Speaker; and
 - if he is removed by a resolution passed by a majority of all then members of the Lok Sabha. Such a resolution can be moved only after giving 14 days' advance notice.
- When a resolution for the removal of the Speaker is under consideration of the House, she cannot preside at the sitting of the House, though she may be present. However, she can speak and take part in the proceedings of the House at such a time and vote in the first instance, though not in event of equality of votes. Hence, statement 2 is not correct.

Q 84.C

- World's first genetically modified (GM) rubber: A Rubber Board research farm on the outskirts of Guwahati now sports the world's first genetically modified (GM) rubber plant tailored for the climatic conditions in the Northeast. Hence, statement 2 is correct.
 - The GM rubber has additional copies of the gene MnSOD, or manganese-containing superoxide dismutase, inserted in the plant, which is expected to tide over the severe cold conditions during winter — a major factor affecting the growth of young rubber plants in the region. The MnSOD gene has the ability to protect plants from the adverse effects of severe environmental stresses such as cold and drought. MnSOD gene used in the GM rubber was taken from the rubber plant itself.
 - The plant was developed at the Kerala-based Rubber Research Institute of India (RRII). This is the first time any GM crop has been developed exclusively for this region after years of painstaking research in RRII's biotechnology laboratory.
 - Natural rubber is a native of warm humid Amazon forests and is not naturally suited for the colder conditions in the Northeast, which is one of the largest producers of rubber in India. The growth of young rubber plants remains suspended during the winter months, which are also characterized by progressive drying of the soil. This is the reason for the long immaturity period of this crop in the region. Hence, statement 1 is correct.

Q 85.A

- Article 356 of Indian Constitution empowers the President to issue a proclamation, if he is satisfied that a situation has arisen in which the government of a state cannot be carried on in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution.
- This is popularly known as 'President's Rule'.
 - A proclamation imposing President's Rule must be approved by both the Houses of Parliament within two months from the date of its issue.
 - If approved by both the Houses of Parliament, the President's Rule continues for six months.
 - It can be extended for a maximum period of three years with the approval of the Parliament, every six months. Hence statement 1 is not correct.

- President rule has no effect on Fundamental Rights of the citizens. Hence statement 2 is correct.
- It should be noted here that the President cannot assume to himself the powers vested in the concerned state high court or suspend the provisions of the Constitution relating to it.
 - The constitutional position, status, powers and functions of the concerned state high court remain same even during the President's Rule. Hence statement 3 is correct.

- The first hour of every parliamentary sitting is allotted for the Question Hour and during this time members can ask three types of questions Starred questions, Unstarred questions, Short notice question. An Unstarred Question is one to which a written answer is desired by the member and is deemed to be laid on the Table of the House by the Minister. Thus it is not called for oral answer in the House and no supplementary question can be asked thereon.
- Statement 1 is correct: As unstarred questions are part of question hour first hour is usually slotted for this. Usually, members ask the questions and ministers give answers in addition to this questions can also be asked from private members.
- Statement 2 is not correct: It requires a Written answer whereas starred questions require oral answers.
- Statement 3 is not correct: Supplementary questions cannot be asked as written answers are required. In starred questions and short notice questions supplementary questions can be asked as oral answers are required.

Q 88.D

- The Tenth Schedule contains the following provisions with respect to the disqualification of members of Parliament and the state legislatures on the ground of defection:
- A member of a House belonging to any political party shall be disqualified for being a member of the House—
 - if she has voluntarily given up his membership of such political party on whose ticket she is elected to the House; or

 - A nominated member of a House shall be disqualified for being a member of the House if she joins any political party after the expiry of six months from the date on which she takes her seat. Hence, statement 3 is correct.

Q 89.B

- The word cryptogamic originates from the Greek word, 'Kryptos meaning "hidden" and "gameein" meaning "to marry". Thus, cryptogamic refers to "hidden reproduction". Cryptogams are one of the oldest groups of plant species, existing since the Jurassic era. A cryptogamic species does not produce any seed or flower. These non-seed-bearing plants include algae, bryophytes, lichens, ferns, and fungi.
- India's first cryptogamic garden housing nearly 50 species of lichens, ferns and fungi was inaugurated in Uttarakhand's Dehradun district at Deoban recently.
- Deoban in Uttarakhand was chosen because of low pollution levels and moisture needed for these species, otherwise also it is a good natural habitat of these species.

- The cryptogamic organisms play a vital role in the ecosystem. Algae, one of the most primitive organisms, are excellent at cleaning the environment. Similarly, mosses prevent soil erosion by binding the soil.
- Importance of cryptogams
 - Further, the cryptogamic species are used for the creation of various medicines, scents, and natural colours.
 - Algae are healthy sources of carbohydrates, fats, proteins, and vitamins. It is used as a food ingredient in several countries like China, Japan, Norway, Scotland, etc. Further, it can also be used as a liquid fertilizer which helps in repairing nitrogen levels in the soil.
 - Bryophytes (mosses, liverworts) too, like algae clean the environment. This cryptogamic species monitors air pollution, prevents soil erosion, and helps in soil formation over the bare rocky surface. Mosses have a high water retention capacity, which makes them suitable for the transportation and packaging of plants. Mosses are also indicators of mineral deposits.
 - Ferns, a unique group of plants, are grown as ornamental plants. They are indicators of the moisture regime of the area.
 - Similarly, lichens are equally important for the environment. They are not only pollution monitors but are also important due to their nutritional values. They are a source of nutrition for snails, termites, caterpillars, slugs, etc. Cladonia rangiferina (Reindeer moss) is the main food for reindeers (a kind of deer) in polar countries.
 - Moreover, lichens are very useful to people in diverse cultures, especially as a source of drugs, medicines, perfumery, foodstuff, dyes, bio-monitoring, and other useful compounds. Eg, lichens have been used as coloring agents in the leather industry, in the cosmetic industry for making items like perfumes, incessant, etc.
- Hence, option (b) is the correct answer.

Q 90.D

- The latest edition of the Indian Ocean Naval Symposium (IONS) was hosted by the French Navy at La Réunion island.
- The 'Indian Ocean Naval Symposium (IONS)' is a voluntary initiative that seeks to increase maritime cooperation among navies of the littoral states of the Indian Ocean Region by providing an open and inclusive forum for discussion of regionally relevant maritime issues.
- The forum helps to preserve peaceful relations between nations, and thus is critical to building an effective maritime security architecture in the Indian Ocean Region and is also fundamental to our collective prosperity.
- The inaugural IONS Seminar was held by the Indian Navy in 2008. Subsequent seminars and meetings of the 'Conclave of Chiefs' have been held at the commencement of each two-year IONS Chairmanship.
- There are in total 24 members in IONS.
 - South Asian Littorals:
 - > Bangladesh, India, Maldives, Pakistan, Seychelles, Sri Lanka and United Kingdom (British Indian Ocean Territory)
 - West Asian Littorals:
 - > Iran, Oman, Saudi Arabia and United Arab Emirates
 - East African Littorals:
 - > France (Reunion), Kenya, Mauritius, Mozambique, South Africa, and Tanzania.
 - South East Asian and Australian Littorals:
 - > Australia, Indonesia, Malaysia, Myanmar, Singapore, Thailand and Timor-Leste.
- Hence, option (d) is the correct answer.

Q 91.D

- Article 148 under the Constitution of India provides for the office of the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) which is an independent office. He is the head of the Indian Audit and Accounts department. CAG is one of the bulwarks of Indian democracy whose role is to uphold the Constitution and parliamentary laws in the field of Financial administration. He audits the accounts of central and state governments and related transactions related to funds, deposits, advances, etc.
- C&AG's mandate for audit of Local Bodies flows basically from the CAG's DPC Act 1971, and he has been conducting the audit of receipts and expenditure of those local bodies both rural and urban, which are substantially financed from Union or State revenues under Section 14 of the Act.

- Most states are under the provisions of section 20 (1) of the DPC Act which states that the C&AG may be requested by the President or the Governor of a State or the Administrator of a Union territory having a legislative assembly, to undertake the audit of the accounts of a body or authority on such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between him and the concerned government. Hence option (d) is the correct answer.

Q 92.A

- The Rajya Sabha is a continuing chamber, first constituted in 1952, i.e. it is permanent body which is not subject to dissolution. One-third of its members are retired every second year and their seats are filled by fresh elections and presidential nominations at the beginning of every third year. Hence, statement 1 is correct.
- The retiring members are eligible for re-election and renomination any number of times. Hence, statement 3 is correct.
- The Constitution has not fixed the term of office of the Rajya Sabha and left it to the Parliament. Accordingly, the Parliament in the Representation of People Act 1951 provided that the term of office of a member of the Rajya Sabha shall be six years. Hence, statement 2 is not correct.

Q 93.D

- No discussion on a matter of general public importance can take place except on a motion made with the consent of the presiding officer. The House expresses its decisions or opinions on various issues through the adoption or rejection of motions moved by either ministers or private members.
- Privilege Motion: It is concerned with the breach with of parliamentary privileges by a minister. It is moved by a member when he feels that a minister has committed a breach of privilege of the House or one or more of its members by withholding facts of a case or by giving wrong or distorted facts. Its purpose is to censure a minister who has committed breach of privilege.
- Censure Motion: It can be moved against an individual ministers or group of ministers or entire council of ministers. It should state the reason for its adoption in the Lok Sabha. It is moved for censuring the council of ministers for specific policies and actions. If it is passed in the Lok Sabha, the council of ministers need not resign from the office.
- No-confidence Motion: It can be moved only against the entire council of ministers and need not state the reason for its adoption. If it is passed in the Lok Sabha, the council of ministers must resign from the office.
- Hence option (d) is the correct answer.

Q 94.C

- The Constitution lays down a special procedure for the passing of Money bill:
 - A money bill cannot be introduced in the legislative council. It can be introduced in the legislative assembly only and on the recommendation of the governor. It can be introduced only by the minister. Hence, statement 1 is correct.
 - When a money bill is reserved for the consideration of the President. He may either give his assent or withhold his assent but cannot return the bill for reconsideration. Hence, statement 2 is correct.

Q 95.C

- According to Article 83(2) of the Constitution, completion of five years from the first day of its meeting amounts to dissolution of the Lower House. The normal term of Lok Sabha is five years, however, the President is authorized to dissolve the Lok Sabha before completion of five years on the advice of the Prime Minister and this cannot be questioned in a court of law. It can also be dissolved if the President feels that no viable government can be formed after the resignation or fall of a regime. Hence, statement 1 is correct.
- Further, the term of Lok Sabha can be extended during the period of national emergency by a law of Parliament for one year at a time for any length of time. However, this extension cannot continue beyond a period of six months after the emergency ceased to operate. Hence, statement 2 is correct.

Q 96.A

- The term of the Prime Minister is not fixed and he holds office during the pleasure of the president. However, this does not mean that the president can dismiss the Prime Minister at any time. So long as the Prime Minister enjoys the majority support in the Lok Sabha, he cannot be dismissed by the President. However, if he loses the confidence of the Lok Sabha, he must resign or the President can dismiss him. Hence statement 1 is correct.

- The Prime Minister stands at the head of the council of ministers, the other ministers can not function when the Prime Minister resigns or dies. In other words, the resignation or death of an incumbent Prime Minister automatically dissolves the council of ministers and thereby generates a vacuum. The resignation or death of any other minister, on the other hand, merely creates a vacancy which the Prime Minister may or may not like to fill. Hence statement 3 is correct.
- The salary and allowances of the Prime Minister are determined by the Parliament from time to time. He gets the salary and allowances that are payable to a member of Parliament. Additionally, he gets a sumptuary allowance, free accommodation, a traveling allowance, medical facilities, etc. In 2001, the Parliament increased his sumptuary allowance from 1,500 to 3,000 per month. Hence statement 2 is not correct.
 - Charged expenditure includes the emoluments of the President and the salaries and allowances of the Chairman and Deputy Chairman of Rajya Sabha and the Speaker and Deputy Speaker of Lok Sabha, Judges of Supreme Court, Comptroller and Auditor General of India, and certain other items specified in the Constitution of India under Article 112(3).

Q 97.A

- The Constitution does not provide for the mechanism of joint sitting of two Houses of the state legislature to resolve a deadlock between them over the passage of a bill.
- If a bill after reconsideration is passed by the legislative assembly for the second time and transmitted to the legislative council and the legislative council rejects the bill again or proposes amendments that are not accepted to the legislative assembly, or does not pass the bill within one month, then the bill is deemed to have been passed by both the Houses in the form in which it was passed by the legislative assembly for the second time.
- When a bill, which has originated in the legislative council and sent to the legislative assembly, is rejected by the latter, the bill ends and becomes dead.
- Hence option (a) is the correct answer.

Q 98.A

While a proclamation of Emergency is in force, the normal fabric of the Centre–state relations undergoes a basic change.

- During a national emergency, the executive power of the Centre extends to directing any state regarding the manner in which its executive power is to be exercised.
- During a national emergency, the Parliament becomes empowered to make laws on any subject mentioned in the State List. Although the legislative power of a state legislature is not suspended, it becomes subject to the overriding power of the Parliament.
 - Thus, the normal distribution of the legislative powers between the Centre and states is suspended, though the state legislatures are not suspended. Hence statement 2 is not correct.
- While a proclamation of national emergency is in operation, the President can issue ordinances on the state subjects also, if the Parliament is not in session. Hence statement 1 is correct.

Q 99.D

- The Constitution does not contain any specific procedure for the selection and appointment of the Prime Minister.
- Article 75 says only that the Prime Minister shall be appointed by the president. However, this does not imply that the president is free to appoint anyone as the Prime Minister. In accordance with the conventions of the parliamentary system of government, the President has to appoint the leader of the majority party in the Lok Sabha as the Prime Minister. But, when no party has a clear majority in the Lok Sabha, then the President may exercise his personal discretion in the selection and appointment of the Prime Minister.
 - In such a situation, the President usually appoints the leader of the largest party or coalition in the Lok Sabha as the Prime Minister and asks him to seek a vote of confidence in the House within a month.
- There is also one more situation when the president may have to exercise his individual judgement in the selection and appointment of the Prime Minister, that is, when the Prime Minister in office dies suddenly and there is no obvious successor.
- In 1980, the Delhi High Court held that the Constitution does not require that a person must prove his majority in the Lok Sabha before he is appointed as the Prime Minister. The President may first appoint him the Prime Minister and then ask him to prove his majority in the Lok Sabha within a reasonable period.

- In 1997, the Supreme Court held that a person who is not a member of either House of Parliament can be appointed as Prime Minister for six months, within which, he should become a member of either House of Parliament; otherwise, he ceases to be the Prime Minister.
- Hence option (d) is the correct answer.

Q 100.B

- Conventionally, the budget is presented to the Lok Sabha by the finance minister on the last working day of February. Since 2017, the presentation of the budget has been advanced to 1st of February. The general discussion on budget begins a few days after its presentation. It takes place in both the Houses of Parliament and lasts usually for three to four days. After the general discussion on the budget is over, the Houses are adjourned for about three to four weeks. During this gap period, the 24 departmental standing committees of Parliament examine and discuss in detail the demands for grants of the concerned ministers and prepare reports on them.
- Voting on Demand for grants:
 - It is the 4th stage of budget in the Parliament:
 - In the light of the reports of the departmental standing committees, the Lok Sabha takes up voting of demands for grants.
 - The demands are presented ministry-wise. A demand becomes a grant after it has been duly voted.
 - The voting of demands for grants is the exclusive privilege of the Lok Sabha, that is, the Rajya Sabha has no power of voting the demands.
 - The voting is confined to the votable part of the budget—the expenditure charged on the Consolidated Fund of India is not submitted to the vote (it can only be discussed).
 - Each demand is voted separately by the Lok Sabha. During this stage, the members of Parliament can discuss the details of the budget. They can also move motions to reduce any demand for the grant.
 - In total, 26 days are allotted for the voting of demands. On the last day, the Speaker puts all the remaining demands to vote and disposes of them whether they have been discussed by the members or not. This is known as ‘guillotine’. Hence statement 1 is not correct.
- Token Cut Motion:
 - It ventilates a specific grievance that is within the sphere of responsibility of the Government of India.
 - When a token cut motion is moved, a token amount of ₹100 is cut from the total grants under a head to express displeasure. It is not to oppose the complete bill but only to show displeasure that certain section of grants needs to be modified.
 - The significance of a cut motion lies in:
 - > facilitating the initiation of concentrated discussion on a specific demand for the grant; and
 - > upholding the principle of responsible government by probing the activities of the government.
 - The cut motion does not have much utility in practice. They are only moved and discussed in the House but not passed as the government enjoys majority support. Their passage by the Lok Sabha amounts to the expressions of want of parliamentary confidence in the government and may lead to its resignation. Hence statement 3 is correct.
- Passing of Appropriation Bill:
 - It is the 5th stage of budget in the Parliament.
 - The Constitution states that ‘no money shall be withdrawn from the Consolidated Fund of India except under appropriation made by law’. Accordingly, an appropriation bill is introduced to provide for the appropriation, out of the Consolidated Fund of India, all money required to meet:
 - > The grants voted by the Lok Sabha.
 - > The expenditure charged on the Consolidated Fund of India.
 - The Appropriation Bill becomes the Appropriation Act after it is assented to by the President. This act authorises (or legalises) the payments from the Consolidated Fund of India. This means that the government cannot withdraw money from the Consolidated Fund of India till the enactment of the appropriation bill. This takes time and usually goes on till the end of April. But the government needs money to carry on its normal activities after 31 March (the end of the financial year). To overcome this functional difficulty, the Constitution has authorised the Lok Sabha to make any grant in advance in respect to the estimated expenditure for a part of the financial year, pending the completion of the voting of the demands for grants and the enactment of the appropriation bill. This provision is known as the ‘vote on account’. It is passed (or granted) after the general discussion on the budget is over. It is generally granted for two months for an amount equivalent to one-sixth of the total estimation. Hence statement 2 is not correct.
